Interest in University Site Grows

Interest in the locating of the Southern Branch of the University of California on the Hastings ranch just west of Sierra Madre has increased during the last three days with the report that there is at least a possibility of the university regents approving this site.

At a meeting of citizens held in Pasadena Tuesday the proposition of locating the school in or near that city was discussed and the Hastings ranch was named as a possibility. It is asserted that members of the university faculty have made statements which would indicate that the site would be satisfactory if other details could be worked out.

H. E. Allen and Mrs. J. Milton Steinberger represented Sierra Madre at the meeting held Tuesday and Mr. Allen in a talk before the meeting stated that this city was anxious to cooperate with Pasadena in every way possible in having the school located near Sierra Madre or any other suitable place in the San Gabriel valley.

This district is the last to put in its bid for the location of the Southern Branch. Until recently there has been little discussion and it was not until members of the board of regents stated that they appreciated the advantages of this district but any proposals offered had not carried with them sufficient detail that leaders in the movement became sufficiently encouraged to work out a campaign.

Marcus W. Copps Passes Away at Esperanza Home

Marcus W. Copps, 89 years old, died at his home on Esperanza avenue, Wednesday morning, after an illness of several months. Mr. Copps was one of the earliest settlers in Sierra Madre, having come here in 1887 from Lawrence, Mass. Before coming to Sierra Madre he was in business in Lawrence and in Portland, Maine.

Mr. Copps was born in Chateaugay, N. Y., Sept. 3, 1836. He was a member of Company "G" Sixth Massachusetts Infantry, from Lowell at the time of the Civil war. He was married in 1866 to Ann E. Hosmer in Concord, Mass. His wife passed away Dec. 29, 1922. He was a member of Sierra Madre Lodge, F. and A. M., and Stanton Post No. 55, G. A. R., of Los Angeles. He had been a member of the Congregational church since March 1, 1891.

During his 38 years of residence in Sierra Madre, Mr. Copps built up a large circle of friends in this community and in Los Angeles, where he was quite well known. Many of these friends have preceded him in death, but there is still a large number who knew him as the highest type of New England gentleman. He is survived by two sons, Fred of Sierra Madre, and Arthur of Los Angeles, and a grandson and granddaughter.

Funeral services were held Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the Grant funeral parlor, conducted by Dr. William A. Tate. Burial was in San Gabriel cemetery.

THREE GREAT PICTURES ON WISTARIA BILL

In bringing pictures to Sierra Madre such as are to be shown at the Wistaria next week, Manager Billy Wall is putting his show house on a par with the best in this part of Southern California. Mr. Wall is offering theatergoers of Sierra Madre next week three features which are considered by all critics to be the best that have ever been filmed. Peter Pan, especially, deserves mention, and in bringing so expensive a picture to so small a house, Mr. Wall deserves the congratulations of the entire community. Other features for this week will be found in the Theater supplement of the News.

SCOUTS WILL SEE BIG CHIEF NEXT SUNDAY

On Saturday morning, Feb. 7, at 9:00 o'clock all Boy Scouts of this community will have the opportunity of seeing James E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, when he comes across the Colorado Street bridge, Pasadena.

At 9 o'clock all Scouts (in uniform if you have one) should assemble at the east end of the Colorado Street bridge. If you haven't a uniform, come any way. It is expected that more than 500 Scouts will avail themselves of this opportunity of not only seeing "The Big Chief," but also hearing him give a talk on the lawn of the Hotel Vista del Arroyo.

The Boy Scout drum and bugle corps will play, "movies" will be taken, and all in all it will be a gala day for the Scouts under the Pasadena District Council.

Mr. West will visit Pasadena in conjunction with the Regional meeting, at which time men from all over California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah will be present. Among those to be here at this time besides Mr. West are: Mortimer Schiff of New York, national vice president; Milton A. McRae of Detroit, national vice president; William Gibbs McAdoo, national vice president, and Stuart W. French, regional chairman of the Twelfth Region, consisting of the above mentioned states, and also president of the Pasadena District council, Boy Scouts of America.

A valentine party for everyone interested in the Congregational Church will be given in the church on the evening of Friday, February 13. That is a lucky date remember, and everybody is promised a rare good time.

Stage Set for 'Pair of Sixes' At Club House

At a special meeting of Sierra Madre Post, American Legion, held Wednesday night, final arrangements were completed for making "A Pair of Sixes" one of the best shows ever staged here. This play is a three-act farce comedy and is to be presented by the Raymond Players of Pasadena on Friday and Saturday at the Woman's Club for the benefit of the Legion Post. It is a legitimate, high class production and merits the support of the people of Sierra Madre. Tickets are seventy-five cents for adults and thirty-five cents for children. Tickets are on sale at downtown stores.

A four-page program of the show has been printed and advertising sold in it to the leading merchants on the basis of a circulation of 400 copies. As evidence of the Legion's desire to give its friends full value for their money, it was decided to have 1,000 copies of the program printed and have copies inserted in the morning papers, as well as distributing them at the two performances.

Patrons of School Pay Plant Visit

A crowd of about twenty citizens, and members of the chamber of commerce, made a tour of the Sierra Madre school Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of inspecting the equipment and making suggestions to the school board that would help to solve the problem of education in this community. R. S. Jensen, J. O. Smith and Mrs. Fletcher H. White, members of the board, conducted the visitors about the building and grounds.

One of the first features which was pointed out was that many of the rooms were improperly lighted. At the time the school was visited the sun was still high and was shining brightly but in many of the rooms it was too dark for comfortable reading, while in others the light was badly distributed. The art class, which employs a full time teacher, is being held in the basement of the school in an unfinished room without outside light of any kind. The lighting was supplied by two artificial lights. The board informed those present that if the school continues to grow at its present rate this room will soon have to be used for regular classes and the art work abandoned.

It was also pointed out that all the floor boards are thoroughly soaked with oil and that if a fire should break out the floors would burn like kindling wood. A great many places were also pointed out which were in need of repairing.

A few of the bolder spirits were conducted to the attic and returned with a tale of unprotected wiring which, if something happened to one of the transformers nearby might start a fire at any moment. It was stated that if the present buildings are to be used, it will be necessary to rewire the entire school, which will take a great deal of money and will not help the general lighting troubles to any great extent.

Mr. Smith conducted the visitors to what was termed by the board as his "pet kick." These are the rooms occupied by the two lowest grades. They are several feet below the surface of the yard and all escapes have barriers which would be impossible for the children to overcome. The only exit would be by way of the outer door, which is also used by other pupils and if the teacher should become incapacitated, many of the children in this room would very likely perish during a fire.

It was also pointed out that there is no protection in rainy weather for children who wish to go to the toilet and that all the cloak rooms are open to the weather so that in rainy or foggy weather the pupils' wraps quickly become damp.

The board spent about $26,000 on building additions less than three years ago, it was pointed out, and at that time it was believed that it would provide school facilities for at least five years, but the board now finds itself in about the same condition as before the additions were made. About $6,000 was spent last year on repairs.

A committee has been appointed by the chamber of commerce for the purpose of cooperating with the board in arriving at a solution of the school problem. The committee is Robert Mitchell, Dr. May Culbertson Laidlaw and Henry Isaacs.

Mrs. E. H. Cameron of South Hermosa avenue has just returned to her home after spending a year in the east with friends and relatives.

Rev. Ben Darnelle, from Los Angeles, who occupied the pulpit at the Church of the Ascension, was the guest of Mrs. L. M. Roulette of Sycamore place.

Scout Commissioner Robert Mitchell and Scout Masters Dennis H. Stovall and Arthur T. Evans will go to Pasadena Saturday night to attend a banquet given in honor of National Scout Executive Clark.

Associated Chambers Are Entertained

A crowd of about 200 gathered at the Woman's Club in Sierra Madre Tuesday night from almost every town in the San Gabriel valley for the regular monthly dinner of the associated chambers of commerce of the San Gabriel valley. The dinner was served by a committee of women from the club and was up to the high standards already set by this organization. Mrs. W. E. Walker was chairman of the committee.

Robert Mitchell, Sierra Madre director of the association, gave the address of welcome and introduced Robert Neeley of West Covina, who is the president of the organization and who acted as master of ceremonies. Mr. Mitchell revealed another side of his manifold nature in his address by giving those present a glimpse of his home town set to poetry.

The address of the evening was made by Dr. Frederick Woellner, lecturer on civic education, Southern Branch, University of California. The subject of his address was, "What Is Education?" Dr. Woellner brought out three points in his discourse: that education was not the acquisition of facts, the ability to sit on the fence and give advice, or the ability to display a string of letters after one's name, but the ability to produce something which would be of some worth to the world.

The following poem was written especially for the occasion by Robert Mitchell. The title is rather longer than usual, which is probably due to the legal training of the author.

Ode in Commemoration of the Meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley at Sierra Madre Feb. 3 1925

By Robert Mitchell

The shades of night were falling fast
As through the valley towns there passed
A cavalcade in glad array,
Exclaiming, "We are on our way."

Sierra Madre.

From Claremont to San Gabriel,
Along the route where boosters dwell
They came in scores amid the dust,
And said, "We'll make your town or bust."

Sierra Madre.

Through smudge-pot land they gaily rolled,
And sad the tale Pomona told,
But on they go through smoke and grime,
To reach the town of faith sublime.

Sierra Madre

El Monte tried to bar the way
With barriers of the K. K. K.,
But Lambert bravely led them on,
Until the heights were safely won.

Sierra Madre.

"Stay, stay your flight," the speed cop yelled,
"Nay, nay, Pauline," the host replied,
"We seek the town that's open wide."

Sierra Madre.

"Try not the mountain roads tonight," Puente urged—"The moon shines bright,
"And goblins lurk along the way
"That leads up to the mountain grey."

Sierra Madre.

"We cannot stop, we cannot stay,
"We have a rendezvous," they say,
"We sup tonight with men of fame,
"Whose deeds add luster to the name."

Sierra Madre.

"And Woellner also there is bound
"The cross-word puzzle to expound,
"And from his lips we all await
"A synonym in letters eight."

For Sierra Madre.

Triumphantly they sped along,
With many a quip and many a song,
The townsmen greet them with delight,
There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight.

Sierra Madre.

LOCAL CHURCH WILL OBSERVE SCOUT SUNDAY

"Scout Sunday," which marks the real beginning of "scout anniversary week," will be fittingly observed by Troops One and Two of Sierra Madre next Sunday evening. At the Congregational church many of the scouts will attend in a body for the special service given in their behalf. Every scout is expected to attend some place of worship that evening, and renew the sacred pledge of the scout. To assist in this, Dr. Tate has invited all of the scouts who regularly are connected with this community church, and as many others as wish to do so, to come. The service will be similar to that of last year, with the exception that an appropriate and interesting screen picture will be presented. Robert Mitchell, chairman of the local committee, and of the district court of honor, will give a brief address, as will Doctor Tate, and the scouts will renew their pledge under the leadership of some one of their own number. Troop flags and pennants, together with the scout uniforms and neckerchiefs, will add color to the occasion.

Full arrangements for this, and for making the trip to Pasadena Saturday morning to meet Chief Scout Executive James West of New York, will be made at a combined meeting of the troops Friday night. A banquet will be tendered in the chief's honor at the Hotel Vista del Arroyo, Pasadena, Saturday evening, with more than 300 guests—scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters, executives and committeemen from the various Southern California districts have been invited. Robert Mitchell, Dennis Stovall and Arthur Evans will attend from Sierra Madre.

Church Will Hold Service For Scouts

The Scout Week of Prayer opens Sunday with a special Scout night at the Congregational church. A representative body of Scouts will be present in charge of Scoutmaster Arthur Evans, and will present the exercises in connection with Scout Prayer Week. A special film entitled, "The Little Scout," will be shown on the screen. Community singing and special music by the choir will be added features. Robert Mitchell, scout commissioner for the district, and Dr. G. M. Bovard, scout committeeman, will give brief talks. All are cordially invited to this inspiring service.

At the morning service of the church Dr. Tate will speak on "The Community Church Idea." This sermon will take up and apply to the work of the church the conclusions presented in last Sunday morning's sermon. What is a Community church? What is back of the demand for a Community church? How does it differ from the ordinary denominational church? These are some of the questions that will be discussed. A cordial invitation is extended to strangers and friends of the community to worship with us.

Frank Spencer, who has been ill the last week, is able to be around town again and expects to be back on the active side of the Times agency in a few days.

Arthur Copps of Los Angeles has been spending the week in Sierra Madre because of the illness and death of his father, M. W. Copps.

volt transmission line extant. To meet the emergency produced by the succession of exceptionally dry years and the resultant loss of power, a 100,000 horse-power steam plant was erected and put in operation within nine months. These major projects have all been brought to fruition at a time when rapid growth was taxing the company's personnel to the limit; its consumers, connected load in horsepower supplied having tripled in five years."

Big Amount Spent Here in Development

During this year the Southern California Edison Company will expend $400,000 in the Monrovia-Sierra Madre district for extensions and reinforcement of its electric distributing system. District Manager Schwartz received this information from the General Offices of the company.

The total appropriations for power development and distribution system betterments of the Southern California Edison company for the year 1925 exceed $25,000,000. Important recommendations were made by Mr. Schwartz to General Manager R. H. Ballard at the close of the year, detailing the requirements of the local system. The local appropriations include a portion of the San Joaquin River-Big Creek diversion project and the great Long Beach plant, delivering electrical energy to Monrovia and its immediate vicinity, and cover extensions and reinforcements of the local distributing lines and stations.

In commenting on the development of the territory comprising the Monrovia district Mr. Schwartz said:

"The growth of our district ranks very high in the general development of Southern California. Both in number of new consumers and added connected load in horsepower the entire district which includes the incorporated cities of Monrovia, Sierra Madre, and Arcadia, and the intervening territory, has maintained an annual increase slightly over 20 per cent. To keep pace with this compounding annual addition our company has in the past and will in future make very large expenditures for service lines and distributing stations. Our payrolls for construction work have been very large and as the territory year by year becomes more attractive to Eastern homeseekers, it is not anticipated that our company's expenditures annually shall be lessened.

"Our program for local system reinforcement for the year includes the enlargement of the capacity of many of the main feeder lines and also extensions where needed. A thorough survey was made this fall of station facilities and we determined that during 1925 additional capacity would be required at both the Monrovia, Arcadia and Sierra Madre stations and a large new station should be erected in the vicinity of Santa Anita."

Continuing, Mr. Schwartz said: "Here are just a few straight from the shoulder facts; the Southern California Edison company is truly a people's company, owned by the people, developing a people's project for the benefit of the citizens served. It will soon have completed the Florence Lake tunnel, the longest water diversion bore of its capacity in the world, which diverts the waters of the Upper San Joaquin river 45 miles from their natural course into Huntington and Shaver lakes 7,000 feet above sea level. The tunnel is 15 feet in diameter, 13½ miles in length, and driven through the solid granite of Kaiser Mountain. This is a gigantic undertaking, involving superlative engineering and economic skill, yet the management of the company will have completed this splendid asset to Southern California's power resources without entailing one iota of expense to Southern California Edison consumers, all such money having been derived from new capital investments in sales of stocks and bonds. As a matter of actual fact, rates have been twice reduced during the interval of its construction.

To sustain the millions who will ultimately reside in this Southland, power, industries, and payrolls are of supreme concern, and the obligation to promote the successful development of economic power is a real duty of citizenship.

"Acting in accord with this thought the Southern California Edison company's executive officers and engineers have planned and put into successful operation the first 220,000

LAST LAP OF 20,000 MILE TOUR IS RELATED

During the informal wait, with a crispness of a November afternoon, the president had begun to feel the need of a little exercise to get blood circulation, and unnoticed he slipped out of his box and was lost in the crowds some hundred feet or more before he was missed.

Well, the quick action and apologies that followed only brought a pleasant smile upon the president's face and blushes to his body guard.

Through the South

Leaving Washington with reluctance, we crossed the quiet Potomac and pushed our front bumper through Alexandria, Mt. Vernon, Fredericksburg, Richmond and many historic points of great interest on the way to Florida—and then, the last lap for home.

At Alexandria we visited the old Christ church where Washington and Lee worshipped, the Masonic lodge where Washington was the first master and the wonderful memorial Masonic Temple, now building, which when finished will be perhaps the finest edifice of its character in the world.

Richmond is an interesting city, of great industries and beautiful colonial homes. And one wonders at the grip she must hold on the American throat for they roll over three billion smokes yearly. One avenue in Richmond is dedicated to memorials and one feels this is a real rival to Washington in the number and beauty of its marble and bronze monuments.

Wonderful Hotel System

Crossing into North Carolina, we are greeted by a system of the best roads we met with on our long tour.

We chose the western transit, for that took us into and through the Blue Ridge mountains where many wealthy families find a happy playground in and around Asheville. It was near this city where we found such wonderful hotels in a setting to please the most particular. In fact, the hotel fraternity has gone ahead as an advance agent and made possible the most luxurious, comfortable and hospitable journey-ends for every day, in every section visited. Catering to the motorist is a new and yet well developed art.

Atlanta, the home of so many painkillers and nerve shots, is only typical of all busy cities. Stone mountain, some seventeen miles out from Atlanta, was a very wonderful place to put in hours of time. This immense granite boulder 1000 feet high and two miles long is being sculptured into the most gigantic memorial the world has ever dreamed of. A full Confederate army is being hewn in bold relief statues so colossal that the hat worn by General Lee is big enough to permit of twenty men sitting on its brim. When finished it will have taken twelve to fifteen years and three to four millions of dollars. A former Sierra Madre man is the sculptor, Gutzon Borglum.

When we passed beyond the Carolinas we bid adieu to what had been our constant pleasure and comfort, good roads. Georgia and Florida have begun to think of the motorist but all we saw in the former was a magnified wash board, and strings of brick wide enough for one wheel, in Florida. A few stretches of magnificent paving in that big tongue of sand and swamp seemed like a respite from the impossible roads, in spots. But when we saw the toll gate and had to pay tribute to the extent of as much as seven cents per mile, we almost wished we either had not read the guide books or had stayed away.

Swamp Roads

One peculiar experience we had was crossing the Everglades or big swamps on a flatcar ferry, run over a warped roadbed that continued to give us every sensation of riding in the car over the so-called good roads—just to keep us tuned up, eh? There was one compensation in that, however, for we did not need to watch the road and driving, and could gaze upon the lazy alligators along the way waiting to prey upon foolish razorback pigs. Toll on this joy ride was only 25 cents per mile.

Florida is not alone in charging for the use of "public" highways, for we had the privilege many times of paying our part for many miles of road yet to be built, bridges (the old covered wooden kind built before the Civil war) and a few finished boulevards.

Our itinerary in Florida took us down the east coast to Miami and across the Everglades to the west coast at Tampa.

At Tampa we sat beneath the spreading oak where DeSoto negotiated with the Indians and started the first real estate activities, which have now developed into a regular California subdivision mania.

Florida "As Is"

Florida was a disappointment to me, though there are spots there like a dream. But the country generally is undeveloped. Daytona with her majestic oak trees beautifully festooned with silver gray moss and bending coconut palms proved to be our greatest lure. The native, tropical, swampy country along the coast in that section is worth a long journey to see, and the imagination finds easy transportation to the prototypes of these in the wilds of South America or other torrid zone jungles.

The state is much like a gigantic sand-coated tongue extending in a teasing way out into the ocean waves. Today there are literally hundreds of miles of dredging canals under construction in an attempt to drain away the great interior swamps and make therefrom productive farm lands.

Florida Oranges

Her oranges are said to be sweeter than our own, but for me, I prefer the finer flavor of the California orange, though it has a little more kick to it.

The orange trees grow more like shrubs or brush clusters than single trunk trees as our own and the question of fertilization is the one most important, for they have practically no soil. They do no irrigating, however. The scale and rust on much of the citrus fruit there would not permit of its leaving our orchards, though this class of fruit from Florida is to be found in the markets throughout the east.

Poor drinking water, scarcity of flowers and song birds, very poor and few lawns, no landscapes to look upon, no diversity of crops, and vast expanses of waste swamps were some of the conditions to my disappointment in Florida.

Key West is, but I cannot understand why, unless to justify a curiosity in seeing how far out in the gulf one can follow those stepping stones.

In Old Havana

Havana is truly exotic and with her alley-like streets, her Morro castle, and the memory of the Maine, it is interesting to the tourist from the States because it is so different. There are wonderful buildings of alabaster whiteness of that graceful Spanish Renaissance and beautiful cathedrals where some of the world's famous paintings hang.

One of the really interesting places we visited was the cemetery. This was true in many places in our long journey, for the cities of the dead differ and compare as do the throbbing active cities of life. Funerals in Cuba are conducted in five classifications. The hearses are horse (Continued on Page Six)

"PETER PAN"

NO motion picture in recent years has been awaited with so much eager expectation by the public as Paramount's production of Sir James M. Barrie's immortal "Peter Pan." It is therefore a source of great joy to everybody to know that Director Herbert Brenon and his associates have converted the famous tale into a real photoplay masterpiece, an entertainment of rare charm and beauty, whimsical humor and tender pathos.

Betty Bronson, chosen by Barrie from hundreds of candidates as the ideal "Peter Pan," by her admirable performance in the title-role, leaps into the topmost rank of film favorites. Mary Brian is exquisite as "Wendy," Ernest Torrence offers another of his perfect personifications as "Captain Hook," and the rest of the cast is equally excellent.

"Peter Pan" is the ideal entertainment for everybody between eight and eighty. It is emphatically the picture of the year.

Around Our Town

Mrs. Eva M. White of Long Beach has leased the Lewis cottage on Yucca Trail and will remain in Sierra Madre for several weeks.

John Shaw has purchased the Winslow property at the corner of Grand View and Lima street.

Neatness and thrift are companions, according to H. E. Allen, president of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank. Accordingly workmen were busy Monday cleaning the weather marks from the brick cornice work around the bank.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones purchased a new Studebaker special sedan the first of this week.

Richard K. Fox, formerly of Sierra Madre, was in town Monday, calling on friends. Mr. Fox is the son of the founder of the Police Gazette.

Ralph Welsh, master of the Masonic lodge at Kane, Ill., at the age of 22, is believed to be the youngest man in the world to hold such office.

Wilbur F. Thayer, who recently moved from Boston to 67 Bonita, was admitted to practice at the California bar in the Superior Court a few days ago.

G. W. Mattoon of McGregor, Minnesota, has purchased the residence at 67 West Laurel belonging to Mrs. Peter Schweich. Mr. Mattoon was in the resort business at Big Sandy Lake near McGregor for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan, who recently came from here from New York, will continue to occupy the property. The deal was made through A. P. Heaney of the H. N. Staback Co., Los Angeles.

Ella Shepard Bush will entertain the Art section of the Woman's club at her Studio, 223 West Laurel, at 2:30 Monday, Feb. 9. Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones will continue her travel talks, this time showing the art of Naples. All members are expected and other club members desiring to join this section are invited.

The engagement of Mrs. Carl Young and Mr. Herbert Clark was announced at a dinner party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Domes of Hollywood last Saturday evening. The date for the wedding was not announced. Among those at the dinner party were: Mesdames Cora Collins of Sierra Madre, Herbert Downing of Monrovia, R. DeMorgan of Los Angeles, Mr. John Martin of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Laaf and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Forsyth of Glendale, and Dr. and Mrs. P. Werner of Santa Barbara. Mrs. Young has been a resident of Sierra Madre for the last seven years.

BASEMENT ART

Masterpieces of art have been evolved in attics and garrets. Maybe they have come from cellars, too, though none comes to mind at present. Possibly a precedent will be set in the quarters to which it has been necessary to relegate the art department of the public school. With increasing pressure of demand for space, it has been necessary for the trustees to put one of the best school departments in the state down in the furnace room. There the pupils find the inspiration of capable teaching stimulated by such surroundings as discarded furniture and storage lockers, within unfinished walls and ceiling, with floor oil seeping through the boards above.

Don't blame the school trustees. They are making the best of the situation created by the voting down of the last school building bonds. That bond program may have been faulty. But something must be done soon. Else the art department will have to surrender its present quarters to one of the grades and take to landscape work for instruction.

Think it over, Mr. and Mrs. Voter—what is the solution of the problem? Somebody must point the way.

SOME MORE RULES

While not entirely original, the ten commandments of health suggested by Miss Maria Leonard, dean of women at the University of Illinois, are worthy of consideration. She says:

"Eat less; chew more. Ride less, walk more. Clothe less, bathe more. Worry less, work more. Idle less; play more. Talk less; think more. Go less; sleep more. Waste less; give more. Scold less; laugh more. Preach less; practice more."

There is a pretty good lot of advice in the above forty words, and it is worth going over several times, giving thought to each suggestion. Better observance of these rules would tend to promote health, happiness and consequently a longer and more useful life.

Nobody appreciates the good local telephone service more than people who are regularly at the mercy of phone systems in some larger cities nearby.

Telephone girls have no business or profession—only a calling. But that fact does not give everybody else the privilege of calling them down.

Correct this sentence: I really believe our meters run too slowly.

Some people (not women, only) believe they have sufficient will power to gossip or leave it alone.

When a Kansas pool room went up in smoke recently the newsboys shouted: "Pool room burned; 100 men homeless."

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Jackson of Los Angeles are new comers to Sierra Madre, having taken the Williams residence on West Highland avenue.

Senator LaFollette delivered the longest speech ever made in Congress, 19 hours, during a filibuster against an emergency currency bill in 1909.

Don't forget the barn dance of the Holy Name society of St. Rita's church on Friday evening, Feb. 13. Good music, good people, good time, plenty dancing. Refreshments free. Come one, come all. Everybody welcome.

The installation of officers of the Monrovia Legion Auxiliary was held in the neighboring city on Thursday, Jan. 29. Those attending from Sierra Madre were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Stewart.

Congratulations are being extended to Harold Davenes and best wishes to Mrs. Ellen Inwood upon the announcement of their engagement. Both have lived here for several years and are well known to most of the people here. The date of the wedding was not announced.

On Pronunciation

Sierra Madre, Jan. 30.—Editor of Sierra Madre News: I was brought up (many years ago) in the "Old Country in the strictest sect of the grammarians. We were taught everything, including pronunciation. I was much shocked to find that the Helper of the beloved Episcopal Bishop of California is called Bishop coad-ju-tor. The rule for a four-syllable word is that the prime accent shall be on the second syllable—Bishop Co-ad-ju-tor. Who would say "ca-aga-late," or coor-di-nate, or cat-as-tro-phe? No one, I hope; then why coad-ju-tor?

Yours truly,

J. E. BLUMER.

(The point raised by Mrs. Blumer is interesting and the New International dictionary does not explain the placing of the accent on the third syllable, coad-ju-tor. Being a Latin derivative, possibly the reason may be traced to the rule of the Roman system: Accent the penult if long, otherwise the antepenult.—Ed.)

D. and Mrs. E. L. Jackson and Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Tate motored to Santa Barbara Tuesday to visit friends.

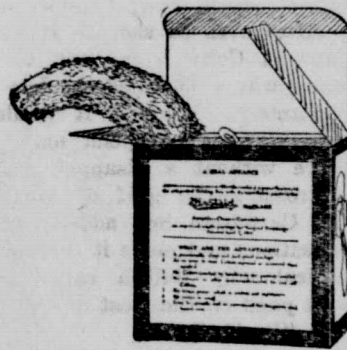

Dennis H. Stovall will give an address Sunday evening at the Holliston Avenue M. E. Church in Pasadena in the interests of Boy Scout week.

Big Tunnel Will Soon Be Complete

By LURLINE LYONS

"It's like the last hand of a game with seventeen million dollars in the jack pot," said Scotty Gilzene, foreman at the outlet portal of the great Florence Lake tunnel, as he stood looking at the strangest score board that has ever fixed the gaze of eager eyes. Behind him the members of the "bull gang" came crowding up as they emerged from the black mouth of the tunnel and its long throat yawning back miles under the Kaiser range of the High Sierras in Fresno County, California, and stamping their way across the strip of snow-covered ground that lies between the tunnel's mouth and the division office of the south portal camp, above which hung the score board.

The "bull gang" or the morning shift at one of the six underground points at which the work of completing the longest tunnel of its size in the world is now being rushed to its completion, had just come off duty. In jack boots and slickers wet and damp from the moisture of the tunnel's depths they gathered about Scotty and studied the figures of the score board. The zero atmosphere of an altitude of over 7,000 feet was freezing the water that clung to their oilskin coverings into little globules of ice, and their breath congealed into frostings on bearded faces. They were a grim, stalwart, dark-faced group of miners and drillers and shovelers, who for the most part had been spending a good portion of their lives underground since the great tunnel was commenced in the fall of 1920. It is their task with drill and dynamite, hand shovel and steam shovel; pick and bar, to gouge a hole fifteen feet in diameter for a length of thirteen and a half miles under one of the loftiest mountain peaks in California to the upper waters of the San Joaquin River, so that this stream may be diverted 45 miles from its natural course to pour its waters down six thousand feet through a chain of eight Southern California Edison company power houses that stretch for thirty miles down ravine and canyon that lead to the peaceful valley seven thousand feet beneath, and generate a million horse power of electricity. They were typical—absolutely typical of the workmen that Executive Vice President Russell Ballard, the Big Chief, terms the pioneers of progress.

"We sure put one over on the north this shift," said Scotty as his index finger indicated the last chalk mark on the board and the members of the "bull gang" crowded closer, while some of them did some fast figuring in mental arithmetic and others leaned over Scotty's shoulder and watched him working out an odd problem on a scratch pad. The dark, grimy faces lit up with the joy of conquest as the problem worked out, and up there in the solitude and the snows of the lonesome mountains in the back country of California, near the Nevada frontier, I saw in the faces of the "bull gang" crew the light that shines when victors score home runs at national ball games; when polo riders charge through the wickets and make scores; and multitudes yell and cheer a collegiate football team; when a brave touch-down punctuates a climax of seasons.

A Game You Won't Find in Hoyle
What is this unusual game with $17,000,000 in the jack pot, that has been attracting the attention of the reading world for the last five years and will soon reach its climax? In a simple way—a woman's way, if you like, I will try to tell you in a few words the points and rules of a play that you will not see written down in Hoyle. Yes, I have been an observer of this game and its playing for quite a long while. As a member of the family of one of the men of the Southern California Edison company whose business it has been to watch its progress since the fall of 1920, when the great work went under way; when two thousand men volunteered to go into exile every winter behind snow that drifted from fifteen to thirty feet on the level over an expanse of 30 miles of mountain; when Jerry Dwyer was brought down from Alaska with his team of malamute dogs to carry the daily mail by dog sled to these winter exiles; when roads were carved along crag and cliff of impassable mountains; when camps resembling villages were built to accommodate the construction army; when droves of cattle and sheep were driven in over the mountains for the winter food supply; and when the first cards were dealt in the seventeen million dollar game—I have watched the play. I have watched the play and the players; heard the discouragements; the victories; the "throw and toss" between giant powder and dynamite and granite boulder, and know of the heart beats and the heart throbs that make up the great human story which is part of the wool and warp of the gigantic project—a part of the life of the man who conceived it twelve years ago. Of his staunch little corps of engineers and captains of construction, of his great industrial army that has risen from a few hardy souls and swelled at times to ten thousand men during the years in which babies born behind the snow drifts have grown to stalwart youth while the long game was playing and playing on. That is why I was one of the little party who accompanied the "Rock-Writer and his staff on the last over-the-mountains trip of inspection in late January. Their next trip will be when the tunnel "hole's through," when they will ride through thirteen miles of solid granite—roof, sides, floor, all—all virgin rock—through the great hole under the Kaiser range, and come out in the great watersheds that are bounded on the north by the Minaret mountains in a region where few have been.

The Greatest Project of Man's Hand

Of the project to harness the wild mountain streams of the High Sierras; to restrain them from devastating floods which have for generations swept the San Joaquin valley; and to convert their idle flow into a million horsepower of electricity—a project which will cost many millions of dollars more than the Panama Canal—the Florence Lake Tunnel is the key achievement. Because it is regarded as the most daring engineering undertaking of the century it has attracted the attention of engineers and writers all over the world. Its story has become a textbook for students and its technology is a thing for students and apart from what I have to tell.

Briefly, this tunnel, which has the greatest diameter of any tunnel of its length in the world, is something over thirteen and on-half miles in length. It follows the north contour of the Kaiser range, which lies in the northeast part of Fresno county, about one hundred miles from the nearest town. The base of these mountains is at an altitude of about 7,200 feet and the crest nearly 10,- drawn there, and each horse is elaborately (more or less, as per class) adorned with statuary in different colors.

In first-class burials there are ten horses each carrying a rider, to parade your remains to its last resting place. The second class has no riders and fewer horses, and so on until the fifth class has neither horse nor horses, but must be borne by hand. Women do not attend funerals in Cuba.

Graves may be owned in fee with perpetual care, or they may be rented. In case of the latter the occupant may "rest in peace" as long as the annual rental is promptly paid, but when that becomes delinquent it is just the same as in life, you are moved out and a new tenant (though a dead one) is given your place and your bones go to the bone yard. We saw several transfers being made.

Spanish basketball, a national Cuban sport

game, is about as much like our game by that name as a bull fight is like our dairy farms. It is called Jai Alai, and they play it with great skill. The bat or basket is a crescent, scoop shaped willow affair about two and one-half feet long and six inches across, on the end of which is a leather glove in which their hand is laced. This is then used to catch and to throw the ball (about the size of, though harder than, our baseballs) which is done with greater skill and dexterity than the usual ball player uses his mit. One of our pleasantest evenings was witnessing the world's champion from Spain—defeated 29-30. The Cubans would rather give up their daily siesta than the opportunity to gamble, and this game is a splendid example of their proclivity and indulgence.

Touring the country in the State of Havana there are many wonderful homes among the sugar, pineapple and banana plantations, like-wise many skeletons of incomplete mansions left as monuments of blasted hopes of sugar barons, who got caught in the 1920 overinflation "blow out," which took the "sweet" out of Home Sweet Home.

After even so short a stay as two days in Cuba it is easy to understand why it is called the Isle of Enchantment. We felt it would have been possible to spend many weeks there without a disappointing hour.

Crossing the gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea added some new sensations and made it seem all more logical why Balboa called the big mill pond on the west of the isthmus the "Pacific."

The Canal Zone
The trip across the isthmus, through the quiet intakes, the locks, the great artificial lake, the canal itself, the Culebra cut, and the fringing landscape, covered so densely with luxuriant tropical verdure, and sweet song birds whistling from the wild banana groves, and stupid alligators basking in the sunshine along the water edge, is compensation for 000 feet. By attacking the granite base of these mountains on the northern side of the Kaiser range at the south fork of the San Joaquin river, and again on the south side of the range on the shores of Huntington lake, the great storage reservoir of the Southern California Edison Company, two excavations go on simultaneously. By driving two lateral shafts a distance of several miles apart at the base of the mountain to the line of the tunnel, and from the end of each of these lateral shafts, drilling in two opposite directions from the end of each, four more points of attack were established, making six places where crews of three shifts each have worked in unison on the great job.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

(Vineyard Annex)

By virtue of the provisions of Ordinance No. 2320 of the City of Pasadena, adopted by the Board of Directors of said City on January 6th, 1925, and approved by the Chairman of the Board of Directors of said City, January 6th, 1925, and pursuant to an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved June 11th, 1913, entitled "Annexation Act of 1913," and amendments thereto, the City Clerk of the City of Pasadena hereby gives notice that a special election will be held in certain territory contiguous to said City, and hereinafter described, on Tuesday, the 17th day of February, 1925, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors residing within said territory the question as to whether or not such hereinafter described territory, contiguous to said City, shall be annexed to, incorporated in, and made a part of the said City of Pasadena, and the property in said hereinafter described territory, after such annexation, be subject to taxation equally with the property within said City of Pasadena, to pay the entire bonded indebtedness of the City of Pasadena outstanding at the date of said proposed annexation, or theretofore authorized, and to be represented by bonds of said City of Pasadena, thereafter to be issued.

The territory which is proposed to be annexed to the City of Pasadena, and which is referred to above, is situated in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, is contiguous to said City of Pasadena, and is bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the present northerly boundary line of the City of Pasadena, said point being distant 50 feet westerly from the center line of Vinedo Street, as said street is shown on Map of Tract No. 7958, recorded in Map Book 90, page 6, Records of Los Angeles County, State of California; thence northerly and parallel with said center line to a point in the center line of the Sierra Madre Branch of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, as shown on map of Tract No. 8143 hereinafter mentioned; thence southwesterly along said center line of the Sierra Madre Branch of the Pacific Electric Railway Company to a point in a line that is distant 50 feet westerly from and parallel with the prolonged original center line of Santa Anita Avenue, as shown on Tract No. 8143, recorded in Map Book 91, page 16, Records of said County; thence northerly along said line that is distant 50 feet westerly from and parallel with the prolonged original center line of Santa Anita Avenue to a point in a line that is dis-the trip the longest way home. Judging from observations on the boat the longest way around is the wettest way home.

The Canal Zone is of course our own territory and is a model of efficiency in government; smoothness of operating its transportation; and sanitation and health. Government officials pilot and man every boat going through the canal and it takes about eight to ten hours to pass from one ocean to the other, 48 miles. The toll paid on our boat on this trip amounted to $12,000, which on the face of it seems high, but this only amounts to about 15 cents per 100 pounds of freight.

Cause for Pride
At each portal of the canal there are three locks with a total lift of 85 feet. Such engineering skill and the accomplishment of such a stupendous undertaking, where disease, pests and unbearable natural conditions existed, is enough to cause the true American to swell with pride for what his fellow citizens overcame and conquered. All honor to Col. Roosevelt and General Goethals and the host of skilled and muscular aides.

Panama City boasts of a population of 75,000 and is as interesting as Havana or many other points visited. Narrow streets, old churches, beautiful public and private buildings, parks studded with those wonderful Royal palms and a population considerably Americanized make this a new Panama as compared to the time prior to the construction of the canal.

The custom of driving and walking to the left in Panama is as confusing to a visitor as a dizzy head makes crossing the streets in Los Angeles dangerous.

Counting the Miles
As we approach San Pedro we find we have covered some 20,000 miles, one-half of which was by automobile. We were in one-half of the 48 states, all but two of which were border states, in Canada, Cuba and Panama, and were gone from home six long months.

We feel justified in seeing America first and also observed that California has no monopoly on all the good things and beautiful scenery, and we were under the charm of her ideal climate during our entire absence.

Greatly as we enjoyed our very many charming places (under favorable season of the year) we are more than glad and happy to be home, and where home means the most beautiful spot in the most wonderful and delightful state of a most magnificent nation.

Local Chapter Eastern Star Is Inspected

The new officers of the Sierra Madre chapter, Eastern Star, received their official inspection from Deputy Grand Matron Lillian Boorman, at their meeting last Monday night. The inspection came much earlier this year than usual, due to a rearrangement of the district. Mrs. Dickinson, associate matron of the chapter, presented Mrs. Boorman with a bead bag in the name of the chapter as a token of appreciation of the work she had done in coaching the officers.

The Get Together club met in the chapter room Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. H. A. Rogers, Mrs. Roland Adams and Mrs. J. E. Appleby as hostesses. The afternoon was spent in making costumes for the "Romper of 1925." Refreshments were served by the ladies in charge.

Valentine Dance at Woman's Club

Plans are under way for a big time at the Valentine dance to be given at the Woman's Club house Saturday, Feb. 14. Kenney's Kentucky Kernels will be back on the stage to furnish the music for the merry makers. Kenney's orchestra seems to be the favorite among the young people and an announcement that they will play at the dance is enough to insure a good crowd and a good time.

SIERRA MADRE GARDENS

By Jessie Ward

If you will bear in mind that the blossoming wood on rose bushes is the new wood only, it will give you a clue at once as to the method of pruning that will produce bloom. A rose bush should be pruned for bloom and not for shape. If you will examine the average rose bush at this time of year, you will find that it is made up of both new and old wood. This can be determined by the color of the bark. The new wood will have bright green bark, while the older wood will be dark green or brown.

Cut out all the canes close to the ground except about two or three of the strongest canes of the new growth. The canes that are now left can be topped some, if necessary, but it is desirable to keep them as high as possible as the further blossoms are from the ground, the less damage is done from the reflected heat. It also lessens the tendency of the bush to become stunted. This method of pruning will not always give you a stright or perfect shaped bush but it will give you flowers and that is what a rose bush should be grown for.

Pruning Deciduous Fruit Trees

Young trees in the home orchard need not be pruned as severely as in the commercial orchard. The new tree when first planted can be cut back almost half way, or so that only about three branches are left, these branches to be cut to about six inches from the main body of the tree. Each year after that about one-half to two-thirds of the last season's growth should be removed, always bearing in mind to form a well shaped tree.

Grape Vines and Small Fruits

Grape vines should be pruned back each year to about three or four buds of the last season's growth.

Some care will have to be exercised in pruning the berries such as blackberries, raspberries and loganberries, as the new canes formed last season will be the fruiting wood of the coming season. The wood that bore fruit last year and which is now two years old, should be removed.

SIERRA MADRE MODEL HOUSE DRAWS CROWD

The model home has closed its doors to the public forever, but not until as many as 4,000 persons had gotten an idea of how beautiful a home can be. The exhibition closed Wednesday night and during the week which it was open the house had been entered by 3,510 persons whom the demonstrators were able to count. This is exclusive of children and it is estimated that several hundred grown people entered who for one reason or another were not checked. Sunday was the biggest day with more than 1700 visitors.

G. I. Farman, who owns the house, and who did the electrical work on it, has rented the room adjoining his store on Kersting place, formerly occupied by the barber shop, and is already busy remodeling it for a show room. This will give him about twice the display space he has had heretofore.

Card of Thanks

We take this opportunity to express to friends, and particularly to Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Grant, our appreciation for their kindness during our recent deprivation in the death of our daughter, wife and mother, Mrs. James C. Heasley.
